“Embrace the blessings that surround you.”

As participants begin their journey, they reflect on the positive aspects of their experiences and knowledge. This stage is about gathering inspiration, acknowledging strengths, and setting intentions.

“Let go of what no longer serves you.”

In this phase, participants focus on shedding limiting beliefs, fears, and unproductive habits. This process opens up space for new ideas and perspectives.

With an open mind and heart, participants enter a state of receptivity, allowing creative energies and new ideas to flow. This stage is about embracing innovation and exploring new concepts.
